With a single click, you can apply discounts to a selection of products, or to categories in bulk, by scheduling them in advance:

- Customizable: Assign a campaign name and define its duration (start and end dates and times). Note that you can correct your campaign dates at any time.
- Instinctive: Search for products by category, name, or reference in the free field, with the option of selecting multiple products and product variations.
- Flexible: Define the amount or percentage of discount to be applied. New prices are displayed instantly in the interface but must be validated to take effect.

Improve customer loyalty and boost sales with attractive promotions!

Saves you time

In a single, fully ajax-based interface (with no page reloads), you can assign mass discounts to entire categories and fully customized product selections.

The version for PrestaShop 1.7 and 1.6 helps you select discounts by displaying stock, last order date and margin.

Our module uses PrestaShop native product-specific pricing system.

Features

The module is presented in two columns: "Product search" and "Promotional products". It's very easy to use: just move your products from one column to the other with a few clicks.

1. Program promotional campaigns in advance, from date to date

The module makes it easy to program your campaign. Simply assign a name to your campaign (e.g. 2016 winter sales) and define its start and end dates and times. Campaign dates can be modified at any time.

2. Product search

You can search for products by category or by entering the product name or reference in the free field. It is possible to select one or more products and product variations.

- Display and filter products by category, product name and part number:
- Display only active products
- Display only products that have been available in the store since a certain date, to avoid selling off new products.
- Possibility of displaying stock, date of last order and margin calculated from purchase price.

3. Applying the reduction

Define the amount or percentage of discount to be applied to the selected products. The new price(s) are instantly displayed in the interface. Validation is required for the price to be applied to the product(s). In the right-hand column, you'll find a summary of all products on promotion, with the amount or % applied and the new price.

It's also possible to discount any product you like. To make the module even easier to use, new display options have been introduced.

Installation

Copy the files to PrestaShop's "Modules" directory. Once installed from your administration area, pull down the "Promotions" menu, then click on "Promotional campaigns".

Recommendations

Only in the version for PrestaShop 1.7 and 1.6:

- Show only active products
- Display products with a minimum age (so as not to put new products on special offer)
- Display stock, last order date and margin calculated from purchase price
- You can now apply discounts to the variations you want.
